Death of Colonel Markland.

Col. A. H. Markland, whose long service in connection with the Postoffice Department gave him merited distinction, died yesterday at Washington, D. C. He was an outstanding Union man during the war, and had charge of the mail department of the army under General Grant. After the war he was made Third Assistant Postmaster-general. Leaving that position, he became inspector of postoffice buildings, and was assigned this district, with headquarters at Indianapolis. His long residence here gave him a wide range of acquaintance. After leaving the postal service he went to Washington and engaged the claim-agency business. Colonel Markland, born in Mayville, Ky., began his business life as a steamboat clerk. He then went to Washington, and for some time served as secretary to various members of Congress. He was private secretary to General Scott when he was a candidate for the presidency. The Colonel was about seventy years old.

His many bearing and intelligence in that body has attracted the attention and secured the admiration of his colleagues.

A very pleasant social entertainment was given in the hall of E. P. Hall, last evening, under the auspices of Exaltion Lodge, No. 25. Some excellent vocal music was rendered. Among those who took part in the programme were Mrs. Morrison, Miss Willard, Mrs. H. D. Beisenberg, Miss Hattie Haman, Mr. Morrison, Mr. Willard, Charles Raschig, H. D. Beisenberg, E. Worthington and others. The attendance was large.

The nineteenth annual closing reception of Mrs. E. J. Price's private school was held last night at her residence, No. 407 North Illinois street. There was a very large attendance, and a programme of unusual merit was presented, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, and recitations by capable people. Among those who took part were Mrs. Sada-Dugget Allen, Mrs. Leon O. Bailey, Miss Leonora Snyder, Mr. Charles Raschig, Charles Hansen, W. H. Duggett, Mr. Correy, Miss Nellie Price and others.

Since the announcement of the "Ben-Hur" entertainment, the demand for the book, at the City Library, has been difficult to supply. The sale of tickets to the performance has been very large, and full houses are assured. The advance agent of Thomas's Orchestra, which was to have been here the 25th, when he found the "Ben-Hur" looked for that week, refused to come. Wherever the entertainment has been given, the attendance has been very large, and the receipts more than satisfactory. Gen. Lew Wallace, the author, is the guest of Mrs. Aaron Blair, on North Delaware street.

Word was received, yesterday, of the death of Mrs. Jas. T. Robe, at Kalamazoo, Mich., whose husband had recently died at the advanced age of eighty-one. Mrs. Robe has been several years his junior, but has been in failing health for some time. A temporary illness, contracted less than a week ago, developed into fatal complications, and she died at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mrs. Robe was the mother of Mrs. W. H. Smith, of this city, who left on Thursday to attend her, and was sister to Rev. G. H. McLeath, of this city. Mrs. Robe was among the oldest and best-known citizens of Marion county. Mr. Robe was recently buried at Crown Hill, and Mrs. Robe will be interred thereon Monday afternoon. Funeral services being held at Kalamazoo to-morrow.

The pupils of the Second-ward school yesterday held a May party in the afternoon, which was a very interesting entertainment. From 1 till 3 o'clock music, recitation and dialogues were given in the room, where the children were all in holiday attire. A large number of parents and children were present to witness the exercises. At 3 o'clock the pupils marched to the smooth lawn on the south side of the building, where a May pole had been erected. The children sang several pretty songs, and then from the building came little May Queen, a pretty little one from the "baby-room" and two maids of honor. She ascended a platform, and a wreath of blossoms was placed on her head, and she responded by reciting a sweet little poem. A company of eight boys and eight girls, with a uniform of red, white and blue, sashes and caps, then twined the tri-colored pole. The excellent music from a quartet of violins was given by young boys. The ribbons were braided and then unbraided without an error, a difficult task for any one. The little children then wound the ribbons, all moving in the same direction. The day was hardly an auspicious one, yet the teachers selected the most favorable time, between showers, for the unique exercises.

The Cyclorama.

The work on the Cyclorama has been going on day and night, so that the picture may be ready at the appointed time. The managers are going to open it to a private view next Tuesday afternoon from 2 till 4 o'clock. Only stockholders, members of the press and a few friends will be admitted. There are none of the great pictures now on exhibition probably that give so good an idea of what a line of battle is as this one. The lines in this case are clearly marked in the midst of all the smoke and confusion. The picture of the battle will be thrown open to the general public.

Conventions of Educators.

State Superintendent La Follette, has issued a circular to the county superintendents to meet here in convention Tuesday, June 26, to confer upon the needs and interests of the common

The State Institute Instructors' Association will meet in connection with the superintendents on Wednesday. He has also authorized all county superintendents to hold the regular annual examination of the members of the Indiana Normal Reading Circle, on Saturday, June 16, 1888.

TRUSTING TO THE COURTS.

Sheriff King instructed to Take No Prisoners from Squire Judkins.

The indications are, that the question as to which one of the six justices of the peace, if any, will have to surrender his office will soon be decided in the courts. The situation is puzzling the best lawyers at the bar. Just prior to the township election the County Commissioners reduced the number of justices from five to three. Three Republicans were elected, and the Commissioners immediately changed the number back to five, and appointed Walpole and Johnson, Democrats, to the vacancies thus created. Two years ago Squire Judkins was elected from the town of Brightwood, and this year no one was elected to succeed him. His commission says he shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified, and after the Commissioners appointed two Democrats he decided to continue in office, and he has been getting on all right since the election. It has been very bad fishing for the six administrators of the law, and the three trustees have been doing all sorts of ways to get rid of some of the three intruders. Prosecutor Mitchell was asked to bring suit against Judkins, but he refused on the ground that he had no authority to take such action. The County Commissioners have been as much embarrassed as anybody, and yesterday they instructed the county attorney to notify Sheriff King to refuse to receive any more prisoners from Squire Judkins. By such a move they hope to get the question in court.

"What do you propose to do," was asked Squire Judkins last evening.

"I intend to hold my office," said he. "I have consulted some of the best attorneys in the city, and they tell me that I can. If Sheriff King refuses to receive a prisoner from me I will institute a mandamus proceeding against him. That will bring the case into court on its merits—just what I wanted to have done all along."

United States Grand Jury Report.

The United States grand jury made its report yesterday, and was discharged. Twenty-seven indictments were returned, one for election frauds, four for pension-law violations, thirteen for counterfeiting and two for violating the revenue laws, seven for postal-law violations. Among those indicted for counterfeiting are Charles B. Miller, of Newton; George W. Showers, of Lafayette; John H. Banes and Joseph Sapp, of Goodland; Jacob Bear, William Bear, John Wildman and Amos Walker, of Winchester. The jury reported that it was unable to find anything to justify an indictment on the charges that jurors had been tampered with in the Coy and Bernham cases, the language of the report on this point being: "We have thoroughly investigated the case, and find that no one of the jurors who tried such case was corruptly or improperly influenced in his action in said case; nor was either of the jurors tampered with in any manner, either directly or indirectly, to find or agree to a verdict." The election-fraud indictment refers to the amended charge under which W. F. Barrows was tried and acquitted.

A Doctor's Wife Asks for Support.

Mrs. Druella F. Long, the wife of Dr. Henry Long, filed suit for support against her husband in the Superior Court last evening. Until recently the defendant resided on Union street, and was a well-known physician. The wife charges desertion, and says that her husband has left Indiana, and that his whereabouts are unknown to his friends. She assigns as cause for his departure, that they were married in July, 1876. She demands $100 per month, and makes Thomas Atkinson, Edwin Early and the Terre Haute Building Association co-defendants, because they owe her husband money aggregating $3,000. She also says her husband has a great deal of valuable land in Kansas, the revenue from which she asks to be given to her.

Wants His Father-in-Law to Settle.

Frederick L. McGahan has instituted suit against his partner in business, A. J. Poole, asking for the appointment of a receiver, and a general accounting of their finances. Several years ago the two entered into a partnership for the manufacture of a patent dye cleaner. Mr. McGahan says that he put $3,000 into the hands of Mr. Poole, who is his father-in-law, to be used in the business in Indiana. Mr. McGahan, while he went to Philadelphia, and to look after the firm's interest. He charges that the $3,000 was not judiciously invested, and that Mr. Poole has not kept a set of books, nor any accounts that will show how the business affairs of the firm stand.

The Town Is After Him.

The residents of Woodruff Place are again having trouble with the people of the adjoining neighborhood, who persist in letting their cows run at large. Tuesday night several cows belonging to George Martin, a dairyman, broke into the place, and in consequence were impounded. Mr. Martin refused to pay the pound tax, and Wednesday night the fence around the inclosure and released his stock. The corporate town has followed the matter up by instituting suit against Martin for the reprieve of the cows until he has paid the charge on them.

Relieved of All Blame.

The Mayor dismissed the case against Mr. Schwabacher, yesterday, which was based on a charge that he rented rooms to Tobe Howe for gambling purposes. The rooms in which the gambling, it is alleged, took place, were unknown to Mr. Schwabacher, included in a lease of other adjoining premises which he and his partner, Mr. Selig, took on May 8, just a few days before the gamblers were raided. As soon as Mr. Schwabacher discovered that his lease was thus afflicted he terminated it.

Asking for Leniency.

Petitions are coming in to Judge Woods from Aties, Fountain county, the home of Isaac Shipman, convicted of violating the pension laws, asking for leniency in his case. Shipman was proved guilty of violating the law in nearly half a dozen cases, some of them being of a pecuniary damaging nature. He showed on the stand that he was a poor man, and was first class, another instance that shows the value, or rather, lack of value, of all such testimony in court.

VULCANITE AND TRINIDAD.

The Committee on Contracts Paves Its Decision on the Paving Bid.

When the Council committee on contracts adjourned last week there seemed to be a misunderstanding about the time of the next meeting. Some of the members of the committee, and also the representatives of the vulcanite asphalt pavement, understood that the contract would not be let until next week, and, therefore, made no arrangements to return to the city before that time. It was Chairman Darnell's intention to call another meeting this week, and he did so for yesterday afternoon. The committee proposing to pave the street with Trinidad asphalt had a representative present, but the vulcanite company was not represented. Quite a number of councilmen, aldermen, property-holders on Washington street, together with the city engineer and city attorney, met with the committee, but were unable to postpone final action until next Thursday, so that the vulcanite company could be represented. The merits of the two kinds of pavement were discussed, but the result of the hearing was that the great objection raised against Trinidad asphalt was its contraction and expansion in extreme warm or cold weather. By the time the surface was laid down it would be so hot that the surface frequently cracked, but still it is claimed that the openings would unite and that the lasting qualities of this pavement would not thereby be impaired. The vulcanite, it is said, is a homogeneous material and therefore not affected by any kind of weather. It is also claimed that there is as much asphalt in the wearing surface of the vulcanite as in that of the Trinidad, but the representatives of the latter pavement disputed that claim. All the members of the subcommittee on electric light, who have just returned from an extended trip through the East, were present. They stated that they saw both kinds in use, and either would certainly make a good pavement. Mr. Shearer was unable to say which he would recommend, considering that the Trinidad costs $3 more per linear foot on either side of the street. Some of the committee felt that the vulcanite should be given a thorough investigation before the contract was awarded.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE GERMAN VOLUNTEER.

The presentation, by Will D. Saphar, assisted by local talent, of the military comedy, "The German Volunteer," will take place at the Grand Opera-house next week. The first rehearsal of the play, in which the English and German troops, and, judging by the talent displayed by several of those whom Mr. Saphar has secured to assist him, the company will be able to give a good exhibition.

On Thursday evening during the presentation of the play there will be a stenographer's contest, open to amateurs only, professionals and acknowledged experts being excluded. The report will be taken on one character only, the character being announced just before the curtain rises. A perfect report is not expected, the prize being for the best. A transcript of said report must be made on some typewriter machine, and must be sent to the chairman of the stenographers' committee within ten days from the date of the contest.

THE LYRA CONCERT.

The Indianapolis Lyra Society gave another of its splendid concerts at Tomlinson Hall last evening, before a good audience. The society is one of the best musical organizations in the State. The orchestral selections of last evening's entertainment were particularly well received, and in this department the society can rank among the best of its class in the country. The orchestra was under the direction of Prof. Ernest Hoff. The ladies' chorus, which sang "Annie Laurie," was another very pleasant feature, as was the solo in a selection from "Aida." The concert solo by Perry Ingalls and violin solo by Tony Parker were generously applauded. The concert will be repeated next month.

THE MUSEUM.

There will be two more performances by Nellie Free and her company at the Museum, this afternoon and to-night, "On the Sahara" being given. Next week comes the amusing musical comedy, "A Cold Day," by a good company.

Took Flowers from a Cemetery.

Rosa Sutphen, a good-looking young lady, nineteen years old, was arrested yesterday by patrolman Kaehn on the charge of plucking flowers from the graves in Greenlawn Cemetery. For some time the owners of burial lots in the cemetery have been complaining about their flowers being stolen, and the police were compelled to make the arrest in order to stop the pilfering. The flowers taken by Miss Sutphen, it is said, were made into button-hole bouquets and sold on the streets by a younger sister.

Building Permits.

The following building permits were issued yesterday: L. P. Johnson, frame cottage on Rhode Island street, near Patterson, $500; R. B. Gian, frame cottage on Linn street, near Leota, $1,000; Henry Runge, frame cottage on High street, near Colburn, $1,200; W. Shierlock, frame cottage on Wilcox street, near Linden, $800; O. D. Butler, improvements at No. 768 North Pennsylvania street, near Fifth, $500; John Lieberich, frame cottage on North street, near Blackford, $370.

To Be Taken to the Prison South.

William Evans, sentenced by the Criminal Court of this county to five years in the Prison North, for the crime of receiving stolen goods, will be, by order of the Governor, taken to the southern prison. Evans is suffering from disease of the lungs, and it is thought the climate of Jeffersonville will agree with him better than the raw, cold lake breezes at Michigan City.

Y. M. C. A. Meetings.

The Sunday school teachers' meeting will occur to-morrow to-day. Prof. Fred, of the Classical School, will conduct the lesson, on the topic of "Peter's Denial." At the young men's social song service, beginning at 4:15 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, the Association chorus of thirty voices will sing. Secretary Douglass will at that hour give a talk upon "Christian Athletics." The singing class meets Monday night.

Last Two Days.

The whale exhibit closes Sunday night. The patronage here has been very flattering. The management have reduced the price of admission to 10 cents, within the reach of all. Manager Pierce takes the whale to Cincinnati after Sunday night and we advise every one to go and see this great curiosity taken from the sea, as you will probably never have an opportunity of seeing a whale again.

The Prevalence of Watches

"There are more persons in the country to-day without stockings than there are without watches," says a Chicago Jeweler. It is a fact that never before was the use of watches so widespread. It comes from a union of high quality and low price in the watch. We illustrate it in the many different makes and grades of watches which we carry. No line in this market to compare with ours.
